

PROFESSOR NATALIE POLZER is Associate Professor of Jewish Studies and Religious Studies at the University of Louisville, where she has taught since 2002. Her research specialties are Rabbinics, Theory of Religion and Disgust and Women and Gender in Rabbinic Judaism. She is currently completing a book on the Feminist Commentary on the Mishnah series, edited in Berlin, Germany. Her presentation on “Abraham: the Scandal of Breaking Convention” focuses on a reading of the biblical narrative.