

DR. DENNIS NEYMAN is a Louisville educator and activist. He has been working closely with the Thomas Jefferson Unitarian Church (TJUC), now All Peoples Unitarian Universalist Congregation (APUUC), for many years, having been a past President. He taught English at the University of Isfahan, Iran from 1975 to 1977 and at the International Elementary School from 1977 to 1979. Dr. Neyman studied the Persian language at the British Society and with a private tutor. While in Iran he travelled extensively to cultural, historical and archeological sites.

Since 2016, Dr. Neyman has been associated with The Salaam Network (TSN). He is now TSN's Director as well as its Community Outreach Coordinator. He has been instrumental in creating a strong partnership between TJUC/APUUC and TSN which has facilitated the presentation of several TSN's public programs and other educational projects at this Unitarian Universalist church since 2018.

He is the Kentucky Coordinator of the US Peace Memorial Foundation, which seeks a culture of peaceful solutions to international conflicts.
